Thursday 23^d May 2024, 10.00am-12.00pm CET

– Online Event –

Migration is a complex and multifaceted phenomenon influenced by countless factors. Shaped by diverse perspectives, debates on migration are intricate and often polarised. As discussions on migration continue and remain more central to the political debates around Europe, bridging polarised narratives becomes essential to build a more resilient and informed community. This session will disclose the scientific findings and analysis of the NODES project on migration narratives in relation to disinformation and polarisation. The event will introduce narrative bridges promoting constructive dialogues acknowledging the nuances of perceptions.
